

Global Business with Mahesh Joshi

VULCAN
MANAGEMENT

Business

VoiceAmericaBusiness.com
Wednesdays at 9 AM Pacific

About The Host

Mahesh is a true Global Business Executive with extensive experience in developing, managing and growing global businesses. He brings in the perfect balance of academics and practical experience in understanding of global affairs and businesses. He has lived in three continents (Asia, Europe and North America). He has conducted business from all three continents as well as studied in these continents which has allowed him to build a very rounded personality with understanding of different cultures and value systems. He studied at Delhi Technological University in India for engineering degree, and Murray State University in Kentucky for MBA. He completed the Advanced Management Program at Harvard Business School in the USA and the Advanced Management and Leadership Program at Oxford. He is currently pursuing his Masters in International Strategy and Diplomacy at London School of Economics in London. His diverse educational background has allowed him to not only build his intellect but also provided exposure to people from various cultures in a learning environment.

He has managed global business successfully at large multinational corporations in senior leadership roles, including General Manager of the business unit at Ingersoll Rand Inc. and President of a business at Cameron International as well as Group President, Energy at Circor International. In his current position as CEO at Vulcan Management, he is responsible for growth in the area of global business.

About The Show

Global Business with Mahesh Joshi spotlights not only mega trends in global business but provides unique insights into the global business which affects you whether or not you are aware of all the facts. You'll get to know the interesting facts which are normally not easily available. Our guests include senior business executives as well as Academicians and views from theorists as well as practitioners.

Get the years of research knowledge from academicians and Practical knowledge from practitioners while you listen online. This is what you really want to know. Each program leaves you smarter than when the hour began. Each weekly program provides a summary which will include three positives or strengths about the country or the concept or topic, three issues or negatives plus three strange but interesting facts. Global Business with Mahesh Joshi is broadcast live every Wednesday at 9 AM Pacific Time on the VoiceAmerica Business Channel.